Contents

1 FPCA-II Opening Comments
André Heck	1
2 Astronomical Publishing: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow
John Huchra	11
3 The Emerging Scholarly Brain
Michael J. Kurtz	23
4 Communicating Astronomy Beyond IYA2009
Richard Tresch Fienberg	37
5 Trends in Scientific Publishing at Springer
Guenther Eichhorn	47
6 Publishing Astronomy and Astrophysics: Article Numbering, Electronic First
Marie-Louise Chaix	57
7 The Future of the ASP Conference Series
Joseph B. Jensen, Jonathan Barnes, J. Ward Moody, and Paula Szkody	65
8 Astronomical Publication Rates in the US, UK, and Europe
Helmut A. Abt	77
9 Fully Digital: Policy and Process Implications for the AAS
Chris Biemesderfer	83
10 Open Access: Current Status, AAS Perspectives
Kevin B. Marvel and Chris Biemesderfer	91
11 Astronomy Librarian – Quo Vadis?
Jill Lagerstrom and Uta Grothkopf	101

12 Telescope Bibliometrics 101
Uta Grothkopf and Jill Lagerstrom	109
13 Progress on the ‘Declaration Concerning the Evolving Rôle of Libraries in Research Centres’
Terence J. Mahoney	119
14 Finding Your Literature Match – A Recommender System
Edwin A. Henneken, Michael J. Kurtz, Alberto Accomazzi, Carolyn Grant, Donna Thompson, Elizabeth Bohlen, Giovanni Di Milia, Jay Luker, and Stephen S. Murray	125
15 Linking Literature and Data: Status Report and Future Efforts
Alberto Accomazzi	135
16 FPCA-II Concluding Remarks
Michael J. Kurtz	143
Future Professional Communication in Astronomy II	147